Service Industries Thrive in Crawford Co.

(Special to the Advocate)

Official Government reports, now being released, show that the business public in Crawford County has been stepping up its spending for services of all kinds.

It is using more of its available cash, after paying for taxes, for rent and for food, on those non-goods items called services.

These include automobile repair, laundering, tailoring, beauty care, diaper service, movies, bowling and a host of others ranging from television repair to interior decorating.

In Crawford County, the selected service industries covered by the reports produce annual business in the amount of $26,000. This represents a rate of spending for services figured unofficially at $478 per household.

Elsewhere in the East North Central States, not counting cities of over a million population, the average spending rate is smaller, $438 per household. In the State of Michigan it is $358.

Excluded from the amounts are payments for rent, or its equivalent in the case of home owners, and outlays for medical care, legal services and education.

The facts are being released by the Department of Commerce in the form of preliminary reports following a nation-wide survey of the service industry field conducted last year to cover the prior year's activities. It is the first such comprehensive picture of this market since 1954.

A total of 64 service establishments in Crawford County, an increase over the 30 that were counted four years earlier, combined to produce the $26,000 in gross business, it shows.

It was 22.6 percent above the 1954 total, which came to $429,000.

The service industries have steadily been growing in importance in the American economy, accounting for nearly 39 percent of all consumer spending, as against 36 percent in 1954.

This ability to spend more for services, as is the case locally, signifies an advance in living standards, say the economists.

Also brought out by the Federal survey, is the fact that the number of people engaged in rendering service instead of producing goods is increasing faster than other groups. In part, it signifies a relocation of industrial workers whose jobs have been lost to machines in this age of automation.

Former Resident Passes On At Midland April 26th

Joseph M. Doremire, 77, of Midland, succumbed April 26th in Midland Hospital, where he had been a patient since March 31.

Born on September 24, 1882, at White Cloud, Mich., Mr. Doremire was a Grayling resident before moving to Midland in 1937. A carpenter by occupation, Mr. Doremire was employed at Dow Chemical Company until he retired about 12 years ago.

Surviving are his wife, Nellie, three sons, Clayton of Mapleton, Clyde of Sanford, and Liwyn of Grayling; a daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Neal of Midland; 12 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. The help of every resident of the area is needed to reach this goal.

It is possible that some Advance Census report forms have not been picked up by census takers. The District Supervisor said he urged persons still holding such forms to mail them to the local census office.

State Police Again To Hold Open House

Michigan Week will be observed by the State Police with open house at all posts on "Hospitality Day" Tuesday, May 17th, and with the flying of the State flag all week, according to Sgt. Carl Harrison, commanding officer of the Houghton Lake post.

"Hospitality Day" is part of the Michigan Week program each year, and visiting hours at the Houghton Lake post will be from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Officers will greet the visitors to explain department operations and there will be a display of equipment.

"Visitors are always welcome at the post but 'Hospitality Day' offers a special opportunity to look us over," said Sgt. Harrison. "They will see how the post functions and learn about the services we perform."

The open house programs at the posts during Michigan Week in past years have been very well received and have attracted thousands of visitors.

"Be sure to come in on 'Hospitality Day' and get acquainted with your State Police," said Sgt. Harrison.

Census Campaign Seeks Missed

With the 1960 Census of Population and Housing virtually completed locally, District Supervisor George W. Myles announced the beginning of a new "New-Guest" campaign to insure that no resident of the area has been overlooked.

Persons who believe they have been missed by the census takers are urged to contact Mrs. Howard Day, area census director, Grayling Box 275 or phone 5587. Mrs. Day will either call upon those missed or send them forms to be filled out and returned. She points out that this warning is especially important for people in Fredric, Maple Forest, and Lovell Township and the northern edge of Grayling Township where it appears that several may have been overlooked.

The importance of a complete count was stressed by the district supervisor. He pointed out that the population figures compiled in the current census must stand as official until the next Federal Census. The census takers are allotted to states and state funds, in turn are allotted to counties and municipalities on a per capita basis. So a short count means a short allotment. Thus, it is imperative that we have a representative of the help of every resident of the area is needed to reach this goal.

It is possible that some Advance Census report forms have not been picked up by census takers. The District Supervisor said he urged persons still holding such forms to mail them to the local census office.

The only difficulty is that the certificates are of doubtful legal validity. Further, there are enough loopholes involved so that the census takers usually receive no credits or money even if he does recommend purchasers.

It's a gimmick, nothing more. Yet the volume of Michigan consumers who are taken daily by this scheme continues to grow.

There is only one safe way to be sure when purchasing appliances. Know what you're signing and, if in doubt, consult a lawyer. Better yet, patronize established, reputable dealers who will stand behind their products and promises.

Any one wishing to enter a team in the league for play this season should have a representative at the meeting as probably rules and a playing schedule will be set up.

Unveil Picture Of Dr. Martzowka

A picture of the late Dr. M. A. Martzowka of Roscommon was unveiled Sunday at Mercy Hospital in ceremonies attended by members of his family and a few close friends.

Father Timothy Kroboth, hospital Chaplain, gave the invocation, then introduced Dr. Charles L. Opy of Roscommon, who gave a eulogy of the doctor's work, and pointing out the faithfulness of all who follow the medical profession. Dr. Opy was followed by Sister Mary Magdalene, who said: "Some had little love while others loved better."

The East Branch of the AuSable proved a profitable stream for veteran Grayling fishermen. Ben DeLaMeter took his limit of brooks on opening day. In his net, he had an 8 1/2 inch, five that ran 10 inches or better and one 12 1/2 inches.

Streams were higher than normal and cold. However the water was not too discolored. The Marquette and East and North Branch of the AuSable seemed to attract more trout than the Main Stream of the AuSable.

The weather was more or less in favor of the bait fishermen and the "flies only" water on the Main Stream was probably the reason it was not more heavily fished.

Presently in Michigan certain unscrupulous salesmen are cleaning up by the door-to-door sale of vacuum cleaners.

No money exchanges hands. The victims are generally smooth-talking into signing a chattel mortgage and note usually in excess of $200 for the purchase of a vacuum cleaner. The papers are then assigned to a finance company and the buyer is hooked.

The cleaner itself may wholesale for slightly less than $200. A comparable one could probably be had for a much less price. The local merchant for slightly less than $50.00.

The salesman comes equipped with the usual gimmick. The standard patter is to tell the purchaser that he will receive a $200 credit on his purchase of a vacuum cleaner. The prospect is recommended to purchase a vacuum cleaner.

When the account is paid up, the purchaser is supposed to get the money in cash. An official looking certificate containing such statements is presented to the purchaser.

The only difficulty is that the certificates are of doubtful legal validity. Further, there are enough loopholes involved so that the census takers usually receive no credits or money even if he does recommend purchasers.

Grayling Council Attends Municipal League Meeting

The Grayling City Council, Mayor Don Gottheus, Wesley LaGrow, Leonard Knibbs, Burton McWilliams and Emil Giegling, City Attorney Charles Moore and City Manager Russell Carlson were in West Branch last Thursday to attend a regional Municipal League meeting held at the Country Club.

League President Don Gottheus gave the welcoming address. The meeting dealt this time with special assessments, which were discussed by four men from the League staff.

Bob Scott, of Scott Engineering, Alpena, gave a talk using the City of Grayling as an example, based on a report made by the Scott Engineering Company a couple of years ago, as a comparative report with one made by City Manager Carlson, both dealing with estimated costs of necessary and desirable improvements within the city. Both reports came up with a figure close to one million dollars as a cost estimate for Grayling's future needs.

The Scott report, or survey, is so complete it will serve as a guide to the city's council for the next twenty-five years.

Trout Opener Proves "Fair"

Although cold, wet weather greeted the hordes of trout fishermen opening the season last week-end, results were said to be "fair." Some had little love while others loved better.

The East Branch of the AuSable proved a profitable stream for veteran Grayling fishermen. Ben DeLaMeter took his limit of brooks on opening day. In his net, he had an 8 1/2 inch, five that ran 10 inches or better and one 12 1/2 inches.

Softball League Meeting Tonight

A meeting of the Crawford County Softball League will be held tonight (Thursday) at 6 p. m. at the Grayling Bowhunters building.

Any one wishing to enter a team in the league for play this season should have a representative at the meeting as probably rules and a playing schedule will be set up.

High School Gymnasium, Tuesday And Wednesday, May 10-11, 8:00 p. m.

Once again as the month of May rolls around, the Woman's Club will present its second annual Variety Show. And what a show it will be this year with an all-male cast.

Back by popular request are three of last year's numbers, The Quintette, the Can Can and the Hawaiian dancers. Arlie, Don, Nels Tommy and Chris have some brand new numbers this year.

Fast jiggy numbers that make you stamp your feet and low moaning songs that will make you use your handkerchief or maybe you'll be carrying Kleenex. And those famous Roccettes, the Can Can chorus with their red panties and coy flowered bonnets. They are all going to be there and performing. They will make you use your handkerchief or maybe you'll be carrying Kleenex. And those famous Roccettes, the Can Can chorus with their red panties and coy flowered bonnets. They are all going to be there and performing. They will make you use your handkerchief or maybe you'll be carrying Kleenex.

And of course the sweet haunting music of the barefooted Hawaiian girls with their green palm skirts and their wigs on right-side to for a change.

And fresh from a tour of the continent will be the Ballet De Russe. What a treat for the people of Grayling. Never before has anything like this ever been performed in Grayling and I mean it never has. Long flowing yellow hair, dainty blue dresses, graceful arms and legs, flapping in the breeze. And when they do the dance of the dying swan, you'll die with them.

You'll think to the wild movements of the Tahitian dancers and you'll shudder when the Samoan dancers wave their fierce sharp swords. All this is the crazy rhythm of the bonzo drum.

And the Woman's Club have really put their heads on the chopping block this year by bringing in Gypsy Rose. Gypsy Rose is a move star. First she sheds an ear-ring, then a glove, then a petticoat, then a ah—but you must see her in person.

And you'll never forgive yourself if you miss the Grayling High Time Band, conducted by Joe Stripe. Never has a band marched in such perfect step and missed so many beats as this one.

You'll want to see Chuck Kroll again, the guy with the black backbone and the big feet. Chuck has a new partner or shall we say shadow, Larry Gust.

The checker players will still be there, providing of course the game doesn't get too rough and they end up in the hospital. Bets are still pretty even.

Now with Mr. Charles Holtcamp as Master of Ceremonies and Mrs. C. G. Clippert at the piano, you just can't miss. Remember the dates, Tuesday and Wednesday, May 10th and 11th at the High School Gym. Tickets will be $1.00 for reserved seats and 75c general admission, and a 50c table for the Woman's Club members, or may be purchased at the door.

Get your now and plan to attend "THE FOLLIES OF 1960."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

April 25, 1960

To the Editor,
Dear Sir:

I have read the letters by Mr. Norman Stephan, and Mr. Bruce Smith, in your wonderful little paper, and have come to the conclusion that both gentlemen have been making some rather wild guesses as to the actual amount of canoe liversies using the AuSable river. Mr. Norman Stephan, in my opinion, was not necessarily concerned as to where the liversies were located, but where their canoes are used. This may come as a terrible shock to both gentlemen, but there are no less than eleven (11) canoe liversies operating on the AuSable river between Grayling, Roscommon, and Mio, and even though three of those are located at Roscommon on the South Branch of the AuSable, they very frequently start their canoes here in Grayling, same as the liversies on the Manistee do, but if the Roscommon liversies didn't start their canoes in Grayling they still would be counted because the South Branch of the AuSable on which the Roscommon liversies are located, enters the Main Stream between Wakeley and McMaisters bridges, where many a dispute has taken place between fishermen and Boy Scouts and beer can throwers as to who has the right of way and owns most of the river.

As to the number of canoes that can be rented from all the liversies, the actual figure is closer to four hundred, rather than the three hundred guessed by Mr. Bruce Smith, or the six hundred given by Mr. Norman Stephan, if any one wishes to question my figures as to the number of liversies, and canoes available from same, be sure to bring some solid money with them, I will take great delight in relieving them of same, when I personally escort them to the eleven liversies and count their canoes.

As far as the liversies giving proper information to their customers, I agree with Mr. Bruce Smith, and I do believe that he does give detailed information to his customers, at least I know he should, because when he started in the canoe business he came over to my livery and asked me to give him all the information about the rivers, he would need to run his livery intelligently, and I spent a good hour giving him all the details that it took me years to acquire through actual experience, he wrote these details as we talked, therefore I too, disagree with Mr. Norman Stephan's statement that none of the liversies give their customers proper information. I will compare my detailed maps with any in the business as they show not only State camp sites, and paddling time between points, but also public telephones for emergencies, and places where the camper can buy additional supplies. I do know some of the liversies don't give detailed maps, for I have had their customers approach me at pickup spots down the river, and ask me to fill in the blank map they had so they would know where to camp and how long it would take to get there. As their map showed when they handed it to me was the name of the different bridges and roads and on the other side of it a long tale about what the Indians did a couple hundred years previous, which does not do the modern camper much good as the river was all public at that time for most purposes.

As far as keeping the river cleaned of rubbish is concerned, we at Stephan's canoe livery have taken dump truck loads of tin cans, tires, old beer bottles, and beer bottles out of the AuSable river with our fishing gear, some Boy Scout troop to come along and help us, if each property owner along the river who cares, would keep his own part clean that would be the only sure way of having a clean river, for no matter what the law says there are not enough deputies to enforce same and we will always have that certain percentage of people in any group who, when no one is looking, will throw their empty containers into the river, it seems to be a game with them.

Incidentally I have always wondered why the State does not use the men in our local prison camps at Hartwick Pines to do this job. It is easy to understand the heavy river traffic spoils the fishing and tranquility of the river, I too can remember in the long ago when I could go to my favorite spot on the river and anchor the boat and sit and fish for hours on end without seeing another human being, hearing any man made sounds, and listen to the plaintive call of the Phoebe, the wood thrush, and the wind sighing thru the needles of the evergreen trees, combine this with the sound of water rippling over and around fallen cedar trees and other trout hide outs and you have a medium for the nerves and soul that cannot be obtained in any drug store. But those days are gone forever on the AuSable, and rapidly disappearing all over the world, due to the Population Explosion. If we think we got it rough now, think what it will be like for people in the future, when our population of 180 million reaches 500 million in the next 100 years. Hoping this will cast a little more light on the river situation.

In defense of the canoe liversies, I wish to state that it is NOT the obligation of the liversies to Police Private Property along the river, anymore than they could be expected to police same along a State Highway if they were renting automobiles instead of canoes, there are laws to protect Private Property no matter where it is located, and there are officers of the law to whom the duty falls, and who has the right to enforce same, and it is to them, we must look for justice, not from private persons no matter what business they are in.

The river itself is a different matter, it is public, and every person with any self respect, and love for the wonders of nature and concern for his fellow man will do all they can to preserve the beauty of same for themselves and future generations to enjoy.

We at Stephan's canoe livery have been very active in this work, if the private property owners through their spokesman Norman "Bud" Stephan, backs to certain Mr. Harry Aldrich at Roscommon state conservation headquarters, they will find that it was Stephan's canoe livery who brought to their attention the Great need for additional campsites and boat landings on the AuSable, due to these efforts a new landing is being created at Stephan's bridge and other landings now have signs by which they can be identified by the public.

We at Stephan's canoe livery appreciate very much the cooperation we received from the state, through Mr. Harry Aldrich, and also the efforts made by Mr. Hans Peterson who is now retired, who contributed much to the betterment of our rivers, whenever we asked his assistance. I would like to make a suggestion to the Private Property Owners, many who are quite wealthy, "How about all of you chipping into a Kitty and have every public bridge, with the county supervisors permission of course, as to the fact that it is illegal to trespass, litter, or pollute, for believe it or not a great many persons are not aware that these laws exist in our neck of the woods, and we at Stephan's only have time to inform our own customers but not the whole population. Also I suggest that as a group, you contact Consumers Power Co., as to donating a large area wherever possible along the rivers for the use of the Public as this will help keep the Public off private property. I believe Consumers Power will go along with you because a good percentage of that same public are customers of Consumers Power somewhere, and it would be a nice gesture on the part of the company to the public. Also ask the sheriff's office to ask every property owner along the river, who is willing to donate their time while they are at the property, to act as deputies and help to apprehend the violators of our laws.

On the other hand it is suspected by a lot of people that the persons making all the complaints against the canoe liversies and canoeists are not really interested in acquiring more facilities for the canoeists, it is suspected that their real motive is to raise such a big fuss, that perhaps they can get the public so aroused that they might be successful in having laws passed, that would abolish canoeists and canoeists off the river completely, which would be a real sick trick if it could be done, or perhaps they would like to have a law passed that would allow canoeists only certain hours to be on the river.

I can just see private canoe-owners standing still for that one, or perhaps that law would be meant for rented canoes only. How many people concerned in this matter realize that if every canoe livery in this area went out of business it would not solve the heavy traffic problem on the rivers, for the simple reason that if canoes were not available locally to rent they would be brought from liversies in the cities, many Scout troops and Girl or Boy summer camps have their own canoes and there are dozens of places in the cities of southern Michigan where you can rent canoes to take anywhere you wish, so it all boils down to the one grim fact, the canoeist is here to stay and God bless his little heart, he will multiply like rabbits and most everybody in Crawford county will profit by his great numbers.

In closing I wish to state publicly that we at Stephan's canoe livery love the AuSable river as much as any human being anywhere, our family roots are buried deep in its beautiful banks and the imprint of our boat poles have covered the bottom of same for many miles and for almost a hundred years, and we always have and always will do our part in keeping our beautiful rivers as nice as possible for everyone.

I am respectfully yours,
Warren Stephan, Prop.
Stephan's Canoe Livery
P. S. I still wish that sewer pipe didn't empty into our beautiful AuSable river.

Letters To The Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

I have followed with great interest the recent and current discussion in this column concerning the canoes, the river, and the ensuing litter. I have fished the AuSable since 1925 and am an ardent enthusiast of the sport. Although I heartily concur with Mr. Stephan's statements regarding the drastically changed conditions on the river and in the fishing in the last years, I am writing this letter primarily as a property owner, having been one for the last nineteen years.

It seems pointless and futile to discuss any method of control of the river traffic, for it has been grown, as we all know, with vast rapidity and will continue to do so as the thousands of urbanites begin to find interest in the outdoor activities and to seek them. We all know that the canoe livery business has improved and spread immeasurably, thereby affording businesses which until lately, were fairly limited.

What does seem worthwhile and important as a point of discussion is the answer to the question of the CONTRA of the USE of these canoes. I have been vehemently and deeply involved in this problem for a long time, as have all the rest of the property owners on the river, I have tried to solve my own troubles with the help of a neighbor when we closed and posted a near-by camping spot which had been available to the public for years. We were forced into this by the numerous and growing number of trouble makers and finally had that last straw which resulted in the "No Camping" signs. I could enumerate countless experiences which I have encountered on my own land — canoeists stopping on my own dock to eat their lunch; picking paper cups and wax paper and paper plates out of a stream which was clogged by them; campers helping themselves to my own firewood; finding parties setting up camp on the screened-in porch of my guest cabin; a canoeist-camper who deliberately chopped down a tree in his fire; the list could continue on and on. During the dangerously uneasy season of the summer when forest fires are uppermost in the minds of all of us, not once did we let a day or night pass without checking the camp site to warn campers about the fire hazard, and even then finding them strolling leisurely through my own woods, and carelessly smoking. When the public site adjoining my land was in use, I helped with the responsibility of cleaning it. One weekend we were sure that it was spotless and that the two large trash cans were empty and ready for litter. Two days later, it took five hours to clean it up again and four trailer-loads of rubbish were removed to the dump, and the trash barrels had barely been used. As I have merely touched lightly on some of the unfortunate occurrences on my own land, I wonder who would discover if we multiplied these by the acres of private land on the river?

Rather than quibble about WHO is responsible for the clean-up of the litter and bottles and cans and trash in the river, the point which should now be made is how to control the trash itself. I would like to suggest to every owner of a canoe to make a canoe trip himself on the day after Labor Day; to start at Grayling and go at least as far as McMaisters bridge, I think that too would be as appalled as the rest of us are at the filth, the disgrace and the ugliness, and would perhaps understand a little more as to why we are so upset. I would also like to propose the following: as each canoe is rented, the contents of the canoe be checked and briefly noted. If a canoe departs with a dozen beer cans, that same canoe should have a dozen beer cans in it when it lands. If a picnic lunch is to be taken, they should be warned that the canoe pick-up will include also a pick-up of the bags or baskets containing the lunch papers. These are suggestions made from desperation. If the canoe livery owners groan at this, let them realize that it will take time and trouble and work to control the problem.

I believe that the answer is nothing but alert, careful vigilance. I have caught and stopped canoeists from chopping down a tree across the river from my land just because he thought "it would be fun" and that tree happened to be one which shaded my friend's dock. I have watched as an irate property owner waded out into the river and bodily grabbed at a canoeist who had witnessed them tearing open his live box and releasing his trout.

Again, I could write a long list of rude, impolite trespassing. If would also like to add that all of us on the river have been friendly and kind to these canoeists... until we are forced to be stern and equally rude because of their actions — all stemming from thoughtlessness and lack of knowledge. Many and many a rainy night has seen camping parties allowed to sleep on my boathouse porch, and I have gladly donated dry wood to campers... etc. etc.) If all of us are aware of the fact that something CAN be done, it will be the first step towards better conditions on the river with all the rented canoes. As it is now, it seems all the worse to me because there are so many of us who live here and love the river and know it — and yet we have allowed this to happen. Nothing can be accomplished without the most sincere, generous, wholehearted 100% co-operation of the canoe liversies. Surely they must realize the problem, and will try to help all of us to answer it!

Michigan's Around You

THERE'S SOMETHING about Michigan that you seek a better life.

Michigan people — and they're open more of their vacation.

But what about Michigan in that it's a beautiful state with a lot of things to see and do.

It's a beautiful state with a lot of things to see and do.

Nobody in Michigan has the state's best beaches, the state's best fishing, the state's best skiing, the state's best hunting, the state's best boating, the state's best camping, the state's best picnicking, the state's best sightseeing, the state's best shopping, the state's best dining, the state's best drinking, the state's best sleeping, the state's best everything.

Two of Michigan's most famous people, Robert and Helen Taylor, have chosen Michigan for their home. They love it more than any other place in the world.

We must read and understand the state's advantages, not only for the state, but for the people who live in it. It's an investment in the future.

Michigan's future is bright. It's a state that's growing and improving every day. It's a state that's worth the investment.

Michigan's Motto About Looking Around You, Taking A Hold

THERE'S SOMETHING in Michigan's motto about looking around you if you seek a beautiful peninsula. Michigan people are doing this — and they're spending more and more of their vacation time in Michigan.

Furlong looks with envy at the budgets of promoters in other states — Florida with $1,240,000; California with $890,000; Arkansas with $550,000, and the Province of Ontario with $1,750,000.

Other trusted advisors proceeded Miller in the exodus from the Executive staff.

Two of Michigan's boosters, Gov. G. Mennen Williams and Tourist Director Robert J. Furlong, say more people would come to Michigan if more people knew about Michigan. They want more money for advertising.

Payrolls for civilian employees of the Executive Branch of the Federal government last year reached an estimated $123 billion, the equivalent of $223 for each U.S. family, up $92 per family since 1947. Currently, a drive is underway in Congress to provide a Federal workers' salary boost at an estimated cost of about $1 billion.

Bits O' Talk

Word has come to the North of an addition to the family tree of one of our summer residents; a little granddaughter for the Harold P. Longdykes of Birmingham. The proud parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Robinson III (Mary Longdyke) of Berkley, Mich. The little Miss is Sheryl Lynn, who made her appearance on Tuesday, April 18th, at 3:44 a. m. at Woman's Hospital. She weighed in at 8 lbs. 3 oz. Mr. and Mrs. Longdyke and their children have vacated at their cabin on the Au-Sable for the past 20 years, and now a new generation is being brought up to enjoy the pleasures of Northern Michigan.

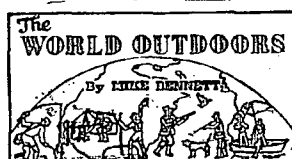

Bill Joseph, tells me that practicing the hula has made him so supple he can lay carpet twice as fast now as formerly.

The Tuesday Night Bridge Club met last week at the home of Mrs. Bill Joseph. Mrs. Frank Bond won first prize. Mrs. Mervin Corwin second prize and Mrs. Joseph Stripe consolation. The ladies presented their hosts with a gift for her new home, and a gift to Mrs. Frank Bond, whose birthday it was the following day, April 27th.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kasper and baby Dorna of Flint spent the weekend visiting his parents, and also came for their two children, Debbie and Steve, who had spent a week with their grandparents, the Joseph Kaspers.

George Morrison looks a little weary and stooped these days, you would too if you had to lug a bass drum around.

Ed Hallman and sons Dale and Jerry of Saginaw dropped off Mrs. Hallman here Saturday. She visited her sister, the Sam Lippards, while they spent the day fishing in the Cheboygan area. Mrs. Lippard accompanied them home to spend a few days visiting her mother, Mrs. George Weber in Saginaw. Mr. Lippard's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Peterson and son Larry of Roseville stopped to visit on Friday and Sunday enroute to and from Cheboygan to visit Mrs. Ethel Lippard.

It won't be too long in most sections of the country before your lakes can be seen winding their way to the nearest stream in search of the way Centarchidae. We aren't talking about dragons or the such, but fish, for the Centarchidae refers to the sunfish family, a short, stocky and adaptable breed that is fair game for any lad armed with a cane pole, hook and can of worms.

Fishing, like everything else in this modern world of ours, has become a rather elaborate operation for most people. Some just won't be satisfied until they fill their tackle box with every imaginable type of rig and lure on the market. Correspondingly, fishing equipment isn't costlier than any other type of sports equipment, but some just can't pass up the opportunity to buy a few lures, for this new one may be the "giant-killer," with some special charm of color or action that makes it irresistible to even the most un-hungry fish.

All of us, at one time or another, have seen a cartoon or magazine cover depicting that humorous scene—a lad with a crooked pole and a bent pin for a hook carrying a big string of fish past an elaborately-rigged, but quite empty handed elder angler. It does happen, for the equipment used by the angler is not nearly so important as a hundred or so variables, including bait, method of presentation, fishing in the right "spot" and, regardless of what anyone says, some good old-fashioned "luck."

Those who have read this far have reached the rightful conclusion that this column, like the old gentleman in his rocking chair, "ain't a going anywhere in a hurry."

FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS

Former Teenager Discusses Being 'Liked'

By C. D. Smith

IN THE MAIL: A recent column about making people like us brought a letter from Marilyn Alexander, Champaign, Illinois. Fresh out of the "teens," Marilyn outlined some of the things that helped her to get along with people. She says:

"Most of us who are shy, I believe, have a few negative feelings toward others along without natural desire for their approval. We should try to minimize these because they conflict without desire for approval. This can be done merely by looking for something to share with others—a common idea, an assignment, a favorite pipe dream, a shared experience involving a third person, and so on. We should accept others' feelings with an open mind, remembering that we all have similar needs for friends."

"Becoming socially poised is not a matter of suddenly becoming a 'social belle' through some magic formula. It is built on everyday experiences that occur, whether it is eating lunch on the school steps at noon, participating in a club with others, or chatting at the lockers between classes. Each one is an opportunity that is waiting to be taken advantage of.

"There are times when attempts to assert yourself seem almost fruitless. Just be patient and don't forget to stage a comeback of that friendly, optimistic attitude. Never let yourself give up completely. There has never been a rainy day that was not followed by sunshine. But whether the sun 'shines' depends almost entirely on one's mental attitude. That is all-important."

"Don't be afraid to trust someone for friendship, even if it's casual, when they show signs of genuine interest in you. This friendship is built on the little things—in fact, these small rewards are what life mainly is made from."

Pendulum Swings

Great Britain has had more down-to-earth practical experience with nationalization of industry than any non-communist nation. Not many years ago, it was as if nationalization of almost all essential British enterprises and services was inevitable.

The pendulum has swung the other way. Witness, for instance, the present plight of Britain's labor party. It is splintered among warring factions. Members of competent observers think that as now constituted it has no chance whatsoever of returning to power. The big bone of contention is Clause Four of the party constitution which calls for "common ownership of the means of production, distribution and exchange" — i. e., total socialism. The party's leader, Hugh Gaitskill, recognizing that this philosophy has become repugnant to the majority of British voters, wants to modify it. But the die-hards won't go along. They refuse to see that Britain's long, extensive, and expensive experience with national socialism has produced profound disillusion, especially among the younger voters.

Witness, again, something that is due to happen at February 14. That will mark the 10th anniversary of Britain's nationalization of her steel industry. And on that date, in 1961, denationalization is expected to be completed, and the steel industry returned to private enterprise. The stock of 11 remaining firms the government still owns will be sold at auction for a forecast of $1.5 million.

Britain still has a very long way to go in ridding herself of socialism. For example, her coal mines, railroads and medical services are still socialized, and are

NEW HOPE FOR HARD OF HEARING

Clinic, Thursday, May 12

2:30 to 5:30 p. m., Shoppenagons Inn Annex

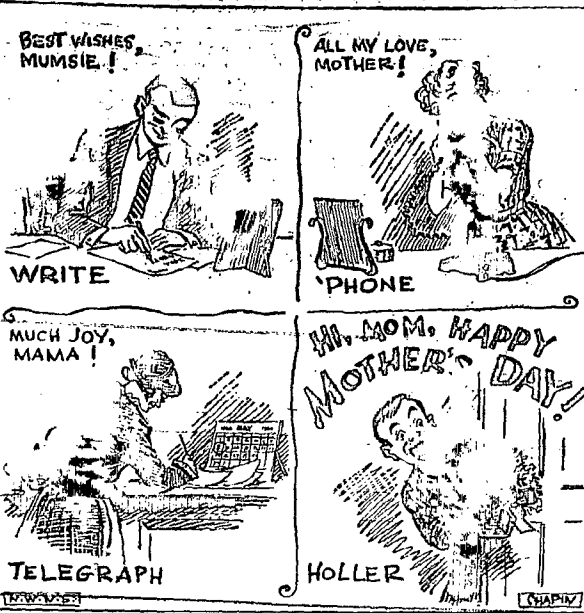

Grayling, May 5th, 1960 — Something new has just been announced. It is an electronic development designed for those who hear but who do not understand words. There is nothing in your ear. No dangling cords. No tubes. The sound vibrations are conducted right through the bones of the head to the inner ear, and right to your center of understanding. We have termed this process "Vibratory Sensory Conduction" — truly secret hearing.

The manufacturer has been able to produce a hearing device so small that many who wear it report "No one knows I have a hearing deficiency." It is said to be very reasonable priced.

This new instrument is manufactured by Audiotex, Inc., Successors to Western Electric Hearing Aid Division and makers of "The hearing aids your doctor knows."

Further information and details may be obtained by writing to Petoskey Hearing Aid Center, 407 E. Lake St., Petoskey, Michigan, or call him by phone, DI 7-2821.

A total of 78 members completed the 4-H Handicraft Project, and 59 girls received their certificates of Achievement for completing the requirements of the clothing project. Thirteen girls enrolled in the Hot Lunch and Home Furnishings projects made a record for themselves by completing their projects 100%. "Meet The Duchess," a comedy in three acts, was presented by the senior class, 1937 at the school auditorium Tuesday evening. Each year the senior class presents a play, using of course the talent available in the class for the cast of characters. This year an unusual number of stars appeared in the roles and they presented the play in a very clever manner to a fair-sized crowd. Dixie, a colored maid, was played by Dorothy Wakeley. Joy January, formerly of vaudeville, by Pauline Entsminger; Gaylord Grant, a tragedian, by Bill Joseph; Mrs. Muggles, mother of Kewpie, by Donna Grifith; Kewpie Muggles, a child prodigy, by Ruth Stevenson; Mrs. Plop, the landlady, by Mary Montour; Elsie Blake of Grayling, by Margaret Buck; Ronnie Ward, an unemployed press agent, by Kermit Charron; Erasmus O. A fire that started in the attic of the home of Charles Barber Sunday morning burned a hole in the roof around the chimney. The city fire department was called and had it soon extinguished. That afternoon some neighbors of the Barber family formed a "bee" and helped Mr. Barber re-roof his home.

Fred Barber of Toledo and Espe Barber of Farmington are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barber at Roscommon, and their children, Mrs. Den Babbit and Mrs. Charles Corwin, here. They are here for trout fishing.

Roy Boger, the barber assisting in the Beckman barber shop on the south side, is moving into the Paul Hendrickson house. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hendrickson have rented a furnished apartment in Bay City where the former is before the Federal Re-Employment Service.

Mr. and Mrs. James Miller have moved from the Rasmussen house to the A. J. Nelson house, formerly occupied by the Harry Peterson family. The interior of the house has been remodeled, and nicely re-decorated and painted.

Harry Reynolds and Frank Schmidt were fishing on Goose Creek Thursday of last week and Mr. Schmidt has the fortune to catch a Montana grayling, the first to be caught here in a long time. It measured about eight inches long, was silver colored and nearly transparent, with a mouth no longer than a smelt and shaped like a regular trout.

46 YEARS AGO —

Glen Smith, a young attorney of Roscommon, is opening a law office in Grayling.

The Michigan National Guard is prepared to the last detail for war. At a meeting of the state militia at the Detroit club Saturday afternoon, final arrangements were made to call out the guard and mobilize it at Fort Wayne in case of war with Mexico. Mr. Mochler, returned home June first, the mobilization will be at Fort Wayne; if after that date, at the state camp at Grayling.

Ambrose Melstrup left last week for Chicago, where he will spend a few days and then go to Canada. His position in the mill yard as foreman is filled by Einer Rasmussen.

A number of nice catches of speckled trout are being reported by our local fishermen, several having come in with the limit — 35. Cedar street is being decorated with crushed rock.

George McPeak is the new soda dispenser at the Olsen drug store. P. J. Mochler at the Detroit club Tuesday night from Chicago with a carload of young cattle which he purchased for R. Hanson.

F. R. Deckrow has been awarded the contract for building the water system and wells at the military camp. It is estimated that there will be 18,000 feet of iron pipe, ranging from 3 1/2 down to 1 inch in diameter, used in the system.

Alfred Hanson, clerk at the Olaf Sorenson and Sons store, will leave next Tuesday for Denmark to visit his parents for a couple of months. He will be accompanied by Aage Reed, who will not return from such sources, it is noted, generally because of a greater amount of public employment there or an unusual concentration of retired people.

In some cases, it is because the locality is the seat of government or the location of a large, publicly-sponsored project.

The range is wide. Total government funds figure least, as a proportion of income, in the State of Delaware, where they amount to 12.8 percent. They rise to a maximum of 29.0 percent in Virginia.

An examination of state and local contributions to personal income show a minimum, again, in Delaware, where it is 4.8 percent, and a maximum in Louisiana, 10.4 percent.

With income, after taxes, at $4,802,000 in the year in Crawford County, as reported by Sales Management, the net amount is

$764,000 Of Local Income From Govt. Sources

(Special to the Avalanche)

New York, April 11 — To what extent do residents of Crawford County look to Washington and to their state and local government for their wherewithal? Do public employment, pensions and welfare figure to a larger or a smaller extent in their daily lives than to people in other areas?

The part played by government in providing employment or assistance differs widely from state to state.

On the average, in the United States, some 18 cents out of every dollar of personal income received by Americans comes from governmental wages, from social security, from unemployment compensation and from public assistance. It is 15.3 cents in the East North Central States.

Such is the finding of the Tax Foundation, a non-profit organization concerned with government spending, after a nation-wide examination of outlays for such purposes. Its report, covering 1958, is given for each state.

Adapting its figures for the State of Michigan to Crawford County, it appears that 16.8 percent of the income of local residents consists of payments from government sources.

It includes 8.6 percent, supplied by the Federal treasury, and 8.0 percent, which comes from the state and local governments.

Some areas get an unusually high proportion of their income from such sources, it is noted, gen-

Michigan is often referred to as the "Wolverine State," although the origin of that designation is obscure. It is doubtful that wolverines were ever found in any numbers, if at all, in Michigan territory.

We were, of course, once a major fur trading region, and wolverine pelts from northern Canada were relayed through Sault Ste. Marie to eastern markets. Some believe we may have acquired the Wolverine label that way.

At any rate the nickname persists, and our University of Michigan athletic teams are commonly called "the Wolverines."

Our state flower is the apple blossom, chosen by our legislature in 1897 in recognition of the perfume of Michigan's spring time apple blossoms. And our official state tree is the white pine, designated by the legislature in 1955.

By legislative resolution of 1931, our state bird is the robin. We usually list Michigan, My Michigan, as the state song, although there is no official sanction for that choice.

Our state seal bears the legend, "Si quaeris peninsulam amoenam circumspice." It means, "If you seek a pleasant peninsula, look about you," a motto written in 1835 before the state of Michigan had its upper peninsula.

On the seal are the words "Tucbor," meaning "I will defend," and "E pluribus unum" which means "From many, one."

Residents of Michigan are properly referred to as Michiganders. The word originally devised for the purpose.

The term "Michigander" is of later derivation and is scorned by many of our people. It came to public notice as a facetious expression, in a speech in congress by Rep. Abraham Lincoln of Illinois in 1848.

Lincoln, who was then opposing the nomination of Michigan's Brig. Gen. Lewis Cass as the 1848 Democratic presidential candidate, accused the Democrats of "dovetailing on to the great Michigander."

Six years after that incident, on July 6, 1854, in an oak grove at Jackson, 1,500 Michigan Whigs, Democrats and abolitionists, rebelling against the prevailing policies in public affairs of their day, organized the Republican party.

So firmly did they establish their new political party as a vital force in American government that later the same year they were able to elect the first Republican governor in Michigan and the nation, Kinsley S. Bingham.

Several prominent men of Michigan have occupied high places in Washington. Among them we remember:

Lewis Cass, U. S. secretary of state, 1857-60; McClelland, secretary of the interior, 1853-57; Zachariah Chandler, secretary of the interior, 1875-79; Don M. Dickinson, postmaster general, 1888-89; Henry Brown, U. S. supreme court justice 1891-1906; Russell A. Alger, secretary of war, 1897-99.

Truman H. Newberry, secretary of the navy, 1908-09; Edwin Denby, secretary of the navy, 1921-24; Arthur H. Vandenberg, U. S. senator from Michigan, 1928-51, and one of the founders of the United Nations; Roy D. Chapin, secretary of commerce, 1932-33; Frank Murphy, U. S. attorney general, 1939-40, and a U. S. supreme court justice, 1940-49; and Col. Frank Knox, who had been a newspaper editor in Grand Rapids and "Society Ste. Marie" and who was secretary of the navy 1940-44.

Michigan has been singularly honored by numerous appointments to important federal posts under the administration of President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The list includes four cabinet positions — Charles E. Wilson, of Bloomfield Hills, Secretary of Defense; Arthur E. Summerfield, of Flint, Postmaster General; Frederick H. Mueller, of Grand Rapids, Secretary of Commerce; George M. Humphrey, an Okla. born Cheboygan, Secretary of the Treasury.

Also — former Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker, of Detroit, Secretary of the Army — George H. Roderick, of Grand Rapids, Assistant Secretary of the Army — former Attorney General Frank C. owners of the land. Over 2,000 acres, one of Michigan's most prized landmarks, is being transformed into a model community combining residential, commercial and resort development. This large tract of land was assembled over a half century ago by its former owners, one of Michigan's pioneer families. The property, in the center of Roscommon County's police-free resort area, has remained untouched, retaining all of its quiet charm and natural beauty. Deer, small game, including partridge and rabbit, are plentiful. Over a half million people vacation in this area each year.

Miles of paved main highway frontage will accommodate motels, restaurants, a shopping center, drive-in theatre, bowling alley, skating rink, riding stable, driving range, Disney-type amusement park, miniature golf, gas stations, antique shops, zoo gardens, etc. Plans include construction of a golf course, tennis courts, a music camp, summer stock playhouse, art colony, a western dude ranch including an authentic western town.

Several sites have been designated for use by those industries that can utilize the natural resources of this area, thereby furnishing employment to the increasingly large numbers of permanent residents. Bernard Edelman has stated that various business men operating in Florida during the winter months have expressed a desire to extend their business operations to this site during the summer season.

Home sites—on streams, rivers and private lakes will provide tranquil living and accessibility to all city services. The heart of this 4 square mile development will be devoted to the creation of a sportsmen's paradise. The natural wooded beauty of this area will remain a haven for the best in hunting and fishing. Tracts of land will be made available for various sportsmen's groups, camps and corporations seeking recreational facilities for their personnel.

Correction: Mr. and Mrs. Leo Jorgenson spent the winter at McAllen, Texas, after a couple of weeks in Amarillo with their daughter and family.

Michelson Memorial Church News

In an abrupt departure from the traditional "Children's Day Program," Michelson Memorial's Children's division celebrated Methodism's "Childhood Sunday" with an Open House last Sunday, May 1. Parents of all children from Nursery through the sixth grade were invited to attend Sunday School with their children.

The Church School hostess, Mrs. Howard Day, with the assistance of a committee from the Junior High Fellowship, greeted the visitors and guided them as they visited from class to class and from department to department. A great many parents look advantage of this opportunity to see the Sunday School in action and the church school workers feel very strongly that such an event is much more helpful than a carefully prepared formal program of songs and recitations.

Five members of the Woman's Society represented the local church at the District Annual Meeting in Saginaw last week.

Hawkins, Mrs. Carl Johnson, Mrs. J. L. Martin, Mrs. Barney Engel and Mrs. Hannah Langenberg. The regular May meeting of the Society was scheduled for Tuesday evening of this week and the nominating committee was expected to present the slate of officers for next year.

Guest speaker at Michelson Memorial next Sunday is expected to be Rev. Glenn Crumley. Rev. Crumley spoke from this pulpit several years ago, just before leaving the country for his first term of service on the mission field in the Belgian Congo. About to leave now for a second term in the same field, he will have an interesting and helpful message for the church.
